BUTLER AND BANKS.

Significant After-Dinner Speeches in Boston Last Night.

CONGRESS CRITICISED

What Secretary Sherman's Syndicate Means.

BANKS ON ADHESION.

"Let Us Strike Hands for the Preservation of the Country."

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE HERALD.]

Boston, April 20, 1878. day in time to attend the regular dinner of the Midnumerous political conditions in State and national campaigns. General Butler was introduced to the assembled guests as a man who could enlighten his bearers on questions of national policy.

On rising he said too much was expected of him and more than he could well secomplism. I cannot tell you what has been done in Congress, for we have done nothing, and with the exception of the single es before you the last time we met, I don't know of anything that has passed Congress worth montioning. or do I know of anything that either since or ther or before that has been done by the Executive that I no call to mind as worthy of notice. I have thereore a difficult task to perform if I undertake to an-There are a great many things we have lett undone which might have well been spoken of, and there are me things that have been done that require notice.

LET BOSTON ANSWER. Before we consider things in Washington may I put back the question and ask, What have you been doing here in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts? How is it in this the most intellectual, the most enter-prising State in the Union? We are informed in Conthat your best and salest institutions cannot oy their debts. How comes it? What is the mat-er? What answer, "good men and true," am to carry back when I address more a month of roor cont bonds at par, and the Secretary of the Treasury went to New York and made arrangements with a syndicate to give them four and a half per cent on thirty years. Just look at the difference, just 5 gare one-half per cent for thirty years on any targe amount. Now, the leading journals of the land have beraided this as the greatest inbancial achievement of the age. We are sadded for thirty years with a bond for four and a half per cent. For what purpose? To secure the placing of the loan. But the syndicate only bound themselves to take ten millions. This sum the people would have taken up at four per cent in two months. This is productive of high taxes for thirty years and nothing else. The government, and General Budier, should issue its own money, and until it does there can be no prosperity.

REMARKS OF GREENAL BANKS.

General Banks was next introduced. He said he did not understand the currency question, and whenever he beard two people discussing it he came to the conclusion that neither understood it. He dwelt particularly on the accomplishment of the good of the whole people, for the accomplishment of the good of the whole people, the test remedy and the only remedy for them all is for they concern the perpetually of the money or whether they concern the legislation; whether they concern the registration; whether they concern the relation; whether they concern the relation of the conclusion that he had the money of the people concerned in them to act together. And when we do that, as I hink we amaid, I don't believe that there will be anything left of these matters that disturb us a first of the people, the best remedy and the only remedy for them all is for the people concerned in them to act together. And when we do that, as I hink we maid, I don't believe that there will be anything left of these matters that disturb to act of the people of the said when I was bere before (and the p

KILLED BY FALLING.

Mary Gray, sged sixty-two, was thrown from a wagon in Newark, K. J., yesterday, and received in-juries which caused her death. She was the wife of a truck farmer who lives in Irvington. She accompanied har husband to market, and after disposing of their goods and while returning home the horse took iright, and in starting to run away the woman was thrown to the pavement, striking violently on her head. She was picked up in an unconscious state and died about half an noer after.

OBITUARY.

VERY REV. PATRICK PRANCIS LYNDON. Very Rev. Patrick Francis Lyndon, Vicar General of the archdiocese, who died of pneumonia in Boston on Friday night, was a man who, besides being greatly loved by the clergy and people of the Catholic Church in Massachusetts, enjoyed the respect of all his neighbors for his character as a citizen. He was a native of Ireland, and was born in the perish of Crossmaglen, near Drogheds, county Armagh, in 1812. His parents were poor. In youth he was of studious habits, and, roceiving a good classical education, he resolved to enter the priesthood. Coming to America in 1832 he became soon after a student in the Roman Catholic seminary in Montreal, Archbishop Williams being one of his fellow students. After graduation the two went to the College of St. Sulpice, in Paris, France. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1842, and, going to Boston, was for a time connected with the old Cathedral on Frankin street, under Bishop Fenwick. He was very devoted, and became a great favorite. In a short time he was placed in charge of St. Mary's parish, Charlestown, where he remained until 1852, winning the good will of the people. Returning to the Cathedral in 1852 he continued there until 1853, when he was appointed pastor of SS. Peter and Paul in South Boston, which parish be built up to such an extent that within a lew yoars a new parish—that of the Gate of Heaven—was taken from it, and later those of St. Augustine and St. Vincent's were organized. Returning again to the Cathedral he was there for some time under Bishop Fritzpatrick. Upon the death of the latter Archbathop Wilhams, who had been vicar general. This was in 1868 shortly afterward ne took charge of the new parish of St. Josephs, which he leit temporarily in 1869 in overer to attend to the admitistration of the diocese during the absence of Bishop Wilhams at the Ecomenical Council. He returned to his charge th 1870, and temented there until the time of his death, excepting brief vacations taken on account of his heath, which for years has been feeble. Father Lyndon was liberal in his opinions, of good judgment, schellarly in his acquirements, gentlemally in all bis relations with the world and a man of unusual ability in the management of financial affairs. Io his ability in this latter respect the diocese owes very much. He was a trustee of several finds and held other positions of titust and honor. During seven years he magien, near Drogheds, county Armagh, in 1812. His parents were pour. In youth he was of studious

VERY REV. JOSEPH PAUL DEBREUL, D. D., S. S. S. The death of Very Rov. Joseph Paul Debreul, D. D., S. S. N. Vicar General of the Archdiocese of Baltimere and rector of St. Mary's Theological Seminary of the Society of St. Sulpice, in Baltimore, occurred about seven o'clock yesterday morning, after a brief illness. He contracted a cold about two weeks ago, which quickly developed into pneumonia of a malignant type, defying the ablest medical skill. The last sacraments of the Church were administered to him on Friday night by the clergymen of the seminary. The clergymen of the seminary, Revs. Paul Chapow, Louis Magnicau, Marc Fonteveau, Paulinas F. Dissey and James McCalen. were summoned to the bedside of their dying superior at six o'clock yesterday morning and remained in the printing Siste in the United? We are informed in Concrete that the property of the collection of Collection of the Colle room until bis death. A few of the seminarians were also present, while the others, ninety in number, were
